NUMBER 4.

2,000 Attend County's First Livestock Fair Friday

Fine Exhibits of Pure-Bred Stock Show Progress Made In Improving Stock.

Fair Big Success

Ray Moretz of Eolia Wins 4-H Corn Championship of County.

The first Letcher County Live stock show was held at the Ison backyards on Friday of last week. This show was sponsored by F. J. Ison assisted by the county agent, Clay Colson and W. C. Montgomery, teacher of agriculture at the Whitesburg High School.

Approximately 2,000 people attended this show and seemed to enjoy every minute of the whole day.

As one looked over the purebred livestock exhibited at this show it was hard to believe that less than three years ago there was not a single purebred bull to be found in Letcher County. Now there are about 17 purebred bulls, consisting mainly of Milking Shorthorns and Herefords.

Among the winners in the Hereford classes were Carl Taylor, John D. Huff, J. Don Collins and Ben Holbrook. First place in the Milking Shorthorn Bull class was won by Gleason Maggard, son of Lawrence Maggard of Sandlick. Probably the best fitted animal in the show was a heifer exhibited by J. Don Collins. Gleason Maggard also exhibited an animal well prepared for the show ring. Next year's premium list will probably include a prize for the best fitted animal and also one on showmanship.

Harry Caudill and Van Breeding, Future Farmers, won blue ribbons on their hogs. Jess Holbrook gathered in three blues on his sheep.

Jeff Whitaker won the hog calling prize. It was not the first time he has won. Curtis Collins won the fat man's race and Mrs. Lettie Freeman won the fat ladies race in a seam roller finish.

In the afternoon the prizes were awarded to all winners. Talks were made during the day by F. J. Ison, Clay Colson, Jerry Montgomery and Boyd Wheeler, former county agent, now located in Pike county. Mr. Wheeler also did the judging in place of Mr. Wayland Rhoads of the University of Kentucky who was unable to attend.

The County 4-H club corn champion was announced by Mr. Colson at the conclusion of his speech. The winner was Ray Moretz of Eolia who produced 93 1-3 bushels of corn on one acre. Young Moretz used one gallon of Johnson County White seed corn furnished by the Bank of Whitesburg to produce this record yield of corn. When one considers the fact that the average yield of corn in Letcher county according to the latest census is 16.2 bushels per acre, more credit should go to Ray. He was awarded a pure bred pig for his efforts.

Much credit should be given to Mr. Ison for working up this show and to the men or firms whose donations made this show possible.

GOVERNOR OF ROTARY TO VISIT CLUB HERE

Mr. John Shaw of Maysville, Kentucky, who is District Governor of the Rotary Clubs, will be guest speaker at the noon-day luncheon on Friday, Nov. Fourth.

MISTAKE CORRECTED

Last week in our rush to prepare copy for the Eagle and in the short article pertaining to the proceedings of Circuit Court the name of Andrew Franklin was written instead of Andrew Holbrook. Mistakes like this will sometimes inadvertently occur but we always gladly make amends for them and we rush to make the correction in this case. The name intended to be used was Andrew Holbrook and not his uncle, Andrew Franklin.

Mrs. Ritter Williams Is Called By Death

Mrs. Ritter Williams, 70 or more, and the widow late Bill Williams (Black) died at the Shepherd, near Tunnell Hill Gap, home of her son-in-law, T. S. on Tuesday. She had been in failing health for some months and her death was due to her advanced age. Aunt Pitt, as she was known was well connected in our neighborhood and had always been a lady of the highest character, well and truly loved and admired by her great host of relatives and friends as well as by all who knew her. She reared a large family of intelligent and high class sons and daughters, who today are among our very choicest people. These are all married and are blessed with homes of their own. She will be sadly missed for Aunt Pitt was highly esteemed and admired by all of them. She was a daughter of the late Will and Polly Williams who came down to this day from first families who settled on the river and creeks above the county seat. In her early life she became the wife of Bill Williams, who until his death was one of the county's very finest citizens. The Eagle extends sympathies to all the children, the grand children, relatives and friends of the deceased.

The remains were interred by the side of her deceased husband in the Hiram Williams Cemetery on Wednesday.

U. S. SENATOR ALBIN W. BARKLEY IS CAMPAIGNING

After opening his campaign for United States Senator at Pikeville last Saturday spent the night there and drove over to Mayking Sunday where, he took up most of the day then drove to top of Pine Mountain and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Sergeant in their home there. His speaking itinerary for most of this week is as follows: Hindman, 1:00 P. M., Monday and Ashland at 8:00 P. M., Tuesday and Prestonsburg at night. On Wednesday he was at Morehead in the afternoon and at Mt. Sterling that night.

Hon. Fred Wallace, State Commissioner of Welfare has been selected as Chairman of his finance committee.

Attorney and Mrs. Astor Hogg Washington, D. C., and their two children, Stanley and Janell were here first of the week visiting and seeing their many relatives and friends and attending the big Fish and Game Rally at Mayking, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hassell Stamper of Ripana are tickled pink on account of the arrival of a new baby girl. The name was already picked—Phyllis Ann.

Douglas Day Post American Legion Holds Meeting

Officers Elected And Plans Made To Organize Ladies Auxiliary To Local Post.

The Douglas Day Post, American Legion, held an interesting meeting in Whitesburg, Friday night. The first thing of consequence was the election of officers for the coming year and this resulted as follows: A. V. Sergeant, Commander; Floyd Messer, vice commander; Stephen Combs, Jr., Finance Director; Bryce Cundiff, Adjutant; Herman Crase, Chaplain and Dan D. Srazier, Sergeant at Arms.

The ladies were granted the right to organize a Legion Auxiliary at once. All wives of Legionnaires and their daughters are eligible for membership in the Auxiliary and are urged to become members as soon as arrangements are perfected. Steps were taken and plans arranged to organize and sponsor a Legion band. Letcher County's leading musician, Mr. Hugh Adams, was directed to supervise the organization and head its directorship. The musical instruments for this band, it is estimated will cost around $2000, and is designed to become one of the leading ones in Eastern Kentucky. Every loyal citizen and every person interested in building the true spirit of patriotism will be urged to join heartily in the work of making this organization the success to which it aspires.

It was arranged to hold the Legion and Auxiliary banquet on November 11th, 1938. Of course all veterans and members of the Auxiliary are urged to get in readiness to attend.

Coal Industry Is Brightening

The John P. Gorman Coal mines at Hot Spot, which have been idle for several months, causing more or less unemployment in that environment, if our information is correct, opened up and started active work this week. One hundred or more miners will be employed which will absorb several workers who have been employed on the WPA.

Another mine that has been idle for several years at Hemphill, we understand was put in operation this week and a number of idle workers will be given employment. Not only in the coal business but in almost every other line of activity the financial skies are gradually growing cleared. About all we know for sure about it is that is when business raises its head, good bravado and perspiring mountain manhood rushes to the Eagle office to get a subscription. This is a sure index:

Our hustling business man and long standing friend, Cooley Campbell of Ulvah drove up from his home in the mid-week and couldn't resist the temptation of calling on the Eagle. Cooley has been in the lumber and store business for quite a number of years. Besides being a good business man he is a widower and wants to re-marry—but—and there is the question.

Ninety-six years ago Whitesburg was born. It was wrapped in swaddling clothes for a year or over when the first courthouse was built and residences began to be constructed along what is now Main Street.

The brick work on the new residence of Lee Adams is nearing completion. This is designed to be one of the best and completest homes in the city.

Whitesburg To Vote For Or Against City Bond Issue

Proposed $20,000 Bond Issue To Be Used For Making Public Improvements In City.

In this issue of the Eagle appears the official notice of an election to be held on the regular election day, November 8th, at which time the voters within the corporate limits of the City of Whitesburg shall vote for or against the further issuing of $20,000 worth of bonds to raise money to further augment the continuance of other WPA projects designed to be let in the near future and within the City limits of the town. The proposition is that the Federal Government has already, through the sponsorship of the city's governing authorities, spent vast sums in making the County Seat one of the attractive, convenient and wide open show places that it now is and for want of the small sums necessary to continue these improvements would be disastrous. The contention is further that while the tide is running high with money flowing from the exchequer of the Government and that this money will be allocated somewhere a part of it had as well be spent in Whitesburg as to go somewhere else.

The Eagle is not attempting to say how the voters of the city shall or shall not vote on the bond proposition, but it would have all the voters think the matter over pro and con and vote for the best interests of themselves, their children and the future welfare of the town. At the same time it is well to keep in mind that within less than a dozen years the county seat is destined to double and treble its present population as well as its business proclivities. As an almost certain evidence of this, we as well as all who drop into the city, need only to look around. Doubtless within a few years the query will be, "just how did they do it?"

OCTOBER 1st TEACHER'S CHECKS OVERDUE 20 DAYS

The October 1st County Teacher's checks are 20 days overdue today and Harry Peters, State Superintendent of Schools said "We are worried about not getting it." The $1,000,000 due the state teachers October 1st, represents the second of seven installments payable monthly. The September payment was only about fifteen days late.

Our rather aged lawyer friend, J. S. Shaver of Pikeville came over Wednesday and remembered to drop in and see the Eagle. Mr. Shaver discolored his fingers with printers ink long ago and has never forgotten the strange aroma that permeates the printing office.

Cumberland Dam Boosters' Rally Huge Success; Hundreds Here

The U. K. E. A. Meeting At Hazard

Only a casual notice of the Upper Kentucky River Educational Association which met in the City of Hazard more than a week ago was printed in our local papers. Letcher County was more or less in the limelight in the meeting and stressing this fact should not have been overlooked. Our own young and energetic as well as proficient county superintendent of schools, Watson C. Webb, was given second honor by being elected vice-president of the organization, while Prof. R. Dean Squires, principal of the Whitesburg High School headed the list of delegates to attend the State meeting. Other delegates and alternates named were Prof. Curtis Reed, principal of the Fleming High School and Orell Fields, attendance officer of the Jenkins Consolidated Schools. Prof. C. V. Snapp, Principal of the Jenkins Schools was named a delegate to make nominations for retirement trustees. Also Prof. Squires was elected president of the Schoolmaster's Club for the coming year—with Beckham Combs, formerly of our City, as vice-president. He was also a member of the Resolutions committee and one of the most active members of the congregation.

Circuit Court News Of The Past Week

Circuit Court continues to keep up its activities this week and the juries are constantly turning out verdicts.

T. H. Foote, of color, charged with the murder of his wife at Fleming some months ago was given a life sentence in the State Penitentiary.

Willie Williams, Whitesburg young man confessed to a charge of robbery and was assessed one year in the State Reformatory. He confessed to entry of the Lewis Wholesale Grocery Company here and carrying away a quantity of goods.

Mat Clark, tried on a charge of child desertion, was given two years in the Reformatory.

The jury in the case of James Cornett charged with feloniously assaulting Dr. C. M. Bentley of Neon, failed to agree on a verdict and the case was laid over till the next term of the court.

Miss Pearl Morton, former Chief Operator for the Southern Bell Telephone Company here will leave within a few days for treatment in a hospital in Louisville.

REV. MONROE HUBBARD OF JENKINS VISITS HERE

He is a great cousin to the Eagle as well as an inspiring preacher, is Rev. Monroe Hubbard of Jenkins, who came in to congratulate us on the New Eagle early this week. Most of his congratulations consisted of $1.50 for another year's subscription. Cousin Monroe was accompanied into the office with our Cousin Mrs. Alice Hubbard Burns, a daughter of Uncle Burdine Hubbard of Milton, West Va. and her daughter, Mrs. Doddridge, of the same place. So the four of us took time to talk of the old days—the days when childhood and boyhood were only dreams, sometimes bright and sunny and at other times vexing as the Sahara.

Club House Is Opened For Inspection of Public During Entire Day.

All roads seemed to be leading to the beautiful grounds of Letcher Golf Course and Club House Sunday morning, the day set to further propagate and if possible the building of the proposed Government Conservation Dam on Cumberland river in our county. By the hour of ten o'clock the rush to be there and join in the exercises almost 200 cars were parked on the beautiful golf course grounds and hundreds of people were milling over the grounds and around in the newly finished club house. And here it is due to be said that this club house so artistically constructed and under the eye and hands of one of the county's most proficient carpenter artisans that is now and will be for years one of the show places of this entire region. And, again, somehow, old Mayking always distinctly pristine as a first settlement in the county, nestled in a snug little valley right under the towers of the Pine and guardian ridges standing as protectors for those who first made the valley their homes, has been peculiarly blessed. And in these modern moments has succeeded in keeping up the pace and pushing to the front. Over on the old family's reposing grounds stands a beautiful brick school structure, the pride of the patrons and children of the neighborhood and nearby it is probably the most modern and costliest Regular Baptist Church building within a large surrounding. The people there out of their own humble means built and dedicated this church building and to match it the WPA sponsored the school building while the town of Fleming, supervised by the Government built the beautiful Clif Course and the Club House. So, in short, Mayking has been favored.

As the people crowded the Club house and gathered in the shade of the trees at about the hour of 11 o'clock, Attorney J. L. Hays over a loud speaker, conveniently placed announced the opening of the day's exercises and the purpose of them. The strains of the nation's anthem, "My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty", rang out from the Master of Ceremonies stand and out through the great crowd. At its close Eld. J. W. Fairchild pronounced the opening invocation and devotion. Then Dr. B. F. Wright was called to the speaker's stand and delivered an excellent introductory address and stressing an all-get-together movement to have the Government build the dam. Said he, "Washington is for us, and all we have to do is to show our lawmakers that we demand it."

Whitesburg's orator and minister, who on account of physical discrepancies was forced to abandon his calling, was next on the program. He is, as we all know him, George Stewart, the man who superintends the mortuary department of the Johnson Funeral Home. Mr. Stewart as the representative of the Whitesburg Rotary Club delivered a

Editorial

Unluckily we failed to hear the argument of Attorney Harry L. Moore in Circuit Court a few days ago in defense of Mrs. Ola Jones, who was on trial on a serious charge, but in speaking to numbers of those who did, we hear beyond doubt it was one of the strongest ever delivered before a jury at the old bar of Justice. Attorney Moore's theme was of the highest—a mother of two innocent children pleading for her life, the sacred precincts of a home broken, shattered and every nerve tingling for surcease. It was like a poor little lamb entangled in the meshes of steel bars looking to Harry and the law, in the law's called barren mercies, for freedom. And it is no wonder that the great big heart of the attorney rolled out in eloquent pleas for his pale and trembling client. Another attorney who had listened to appeals before the Whitesburg bar for twenty years, said, "No greater speech was ever delivered by any attorney in defense of a client than made by Harry Moore. Not only did he shed tears on several occasions while making his appeals, but by his forceful eloquent and dramatic plea he brought tears to the eyes of the Judge, the jury and hundreds of spectators who crowded to overflowing the courtroom."

It was to be regretted that the parties in this unfortunate affair were among the best citizenships in Letcher County. Mrs. Ola Boggs Jones descended from two of Letcher County's great old families, the Boggs and Ingrams. Her parents went to every pains and means to educate and fit her for all the duties and responsibilities of life. She was a teacher in the public schools and while taking a finishing course in college met Leland Jones, an other spry young teacher, who was also the warp and woof of three or four of the highest class and best connected families in Eastern Kentucky. As said they met, they loved, they entwined as one, they built a nest—a happy little home—and in the due course of time became the fond recipients of two bright and lovely little daughters. In the days that followed the tempter first while came as it oft will, if its siren appeals are encouraged and the mother saw her stars of hope for herself and loved ones sinking beyond a dark horizon. She became a wreck, a mere fragment of her former bright and gay self. In her sleepless agony, in the deep recesses of her stabbed and bleeding soul, she sought a desperate and an unfortunate way out. The sequel culminated at the bar of Justice in the Circuit Court here last week. And the "Unwritten Law", the law that dumbs the edict that came down from Sinai to Moses stood unchallenged.

Only occasionally will this paper indulge in editorial writing, however, editorial comments will be frequently found in news matter of a general nature. As a rule editors of local newspapers object to this way of doing things, but as said oft before the Eagle is different, has always been different and will continue to remain different. It originated in a different day and age from this, even before this old spot we call earth became mixed and tangled with the other spheres and lost its distinctive identity.

Occasionally, however, we reserve the right to discuss editorially any question of state or national consequence, but believing that the local newspaper's field is wide enough and important enough for all editorial discussions we shall confine ourselves to this. At all times, therefore, we shall try to emphasize the well-being of our own people and whatever concerns them shall have our first interest. Readers of the Eagle may not have observed it, but just somehow or other it seems to me that the citizenship of any neighborhood or country is just about what the reliable newspaper breathes into it. The local newspaper that is void of personality, a dry, dusty, lifeless sheet is fit only for the waste basket. Won't every reader and friend help us to put real live and moving personality into every issue of the Eagle?

The Eagle and News are loyal to every interest of all the people of Letcher County and the Mountain people. The papers each have certain unalterable policies that long experience has taught that cannot be violated. One of these and the most particular one, is that they cannot take part in publishing and engaging in questions, political or religious or airing prejudices as between those who engage in these. It is not fair or just to the publications for our friends and patrons to expect us to take up their cudgels and strike either way for them.

The highest ambition of the publications as inferred is to build and help all and tear down nor injure any. Respect for our rights in this particular must always be considered.

Keep Letcher County moving onward, upward. Your county newspapers lead the way.

'Round An' About

—with—

MAURICE E. WHITE

Well, well, and well. Just been through a stack of letters and clearing up my desk. Don't feel disappointed if I owe you a letter 'cause I'll get around to it this week. My parents just got back from a few days in Massachusetts where they saw the results of a storm. I guess my mother thought one had hit us when she got a look at my room with all the papers over the floor. But I've been trying to convince her that all this rubbish on the floor is my files where I keep important papers. But that's the way of us scribblers. Things are always upside down and backwards in a print shop and that's what my desk files look like now.

—MEW—

I went to church Sunday nite and heard Miss Bonnie Correll deliver a fine message of faith and hope. She is conducting a revival here in Neon that ends this week. We all enjoy a good inspirational message and Miss Correll (age 24) is just such a person with such a message. I like to affiliate with all groups and feel that they are all doing something for helpless, groping humanity. They are the real foundation of our civilization and our democracy. They have set the foundation for our moral standards. My grandmother was an Old Regular Baptist and I can hear her voice today as she echoed those old familiar songs which are dear to my heart. Devoted soul that she was, I have a deep respect for her faith and I feel assured that she has found that gold-mine in the sky. After I go to church as I do occasionally here and there, I leave with the feeling that I am a better man. I am not affiliated with any particular group. The sweet and simple hymns and that message of hope will find a soft spot in the breast of the most hardened criminal. We must come to realize that religion is the foundation of our civilization.

Marriage License: Robert Webb, 23, Neon, to Irene Crutcher, 21, Hazard. Don't tell any one. It's still a secret. What's that black Willys doing parked in front of the barber's house at McRoberts. It's a girl at the Frank Abdoo's. Thanx for the cigar. Fraz has been taking some sewing lessons. Mae Kilgore is exposing herself to a business course at Fairmont, W. Va. Mrs. S. M. Wright is a real sick lady. What girl had to help her boy friend take a certain Band Mill Bottom lassie home. Now Homer. Ruby doesn't need a chaperon.

—MEW—

Grace Plummer was over to see Wilda Hopkins. She's Denver's sis. I heard Ruby Maloney asking for a red jacket. Or was it something about a trip to Red Jacket. Have you ever noticed a black Chevy parked in Tolliver Town, just before school? I can't figure out about that good looking blonde chasing Carl Tolliver. Popularity, eh? We hear Eloise Williams is coming out of the Shade toward the (Hol) brook. Elmer Howard's new heartbeat is Wyona Hamilton of Virgie. She was in town Sateve with Dixie Tackett of Weeksbury. Both are schoolmarmas.

—MEW—

Wilda says Frank Vertuca is handsome. No comment from here. Me and Frank never could agree on anything. Fleming beat Van Lear by 20-6 there Saturday. Ma Kimbrell is able to be up and stirring around the house after about a month in bed. I'm glad to know you're better, Ma. I wanna know what girl it was called Bert Sloan on the fone. June objects. Irene Blair lives on Renfro Mountain. Gladys Stephens who has been down South and Alabama is home temporarily. I forgot to say that Gladys travels as a play director for high schools. That good looking behind the counter at Dawahare's wearing a big smile was Irene Standfield from Whitesburg. Does Ruby's Detroit cousin like Ruby's McRob pal? I think so. It used to be Joty but now it's Doty. Is it that Plummer gal, Fraz?

Met Georgia Bates at Neon Drug. She teaches at Tolliver Town and stays with a sis at McRob. It's her first year as a schoolmarm and she likes it. Her home is at Payne Gap. She is as intelligent as she looks. I might say for the benefit of other local young men that her hobby is letter-writing and her postoffice address is Payne Gap, Ky. Drop her a card.

—MEW—

The village gossip just told me that McRoberts has a new street. I think they call it Sycamore. Carolyn Williams of Burdine plans to move to Van Lear within a fortnite. Stop and tell us goodbye, 'er sumpin'. I introduced myself to Madeline Harris at the Music Bar, Sun. nite. By the way, Clara Sheaffer took Dominic to see a local flicker. What about it? That's my initials you see between these paragraphs, although they do suggest the cry of a certain domestic animal. At any rate, I've been mewing around all over the county this week with the exception of Cumberland. I plan to be there soon and see some of my old friends. I knew just about as many people around Letcher as anybody and I feel proud to be in your midst as one of you. The hill country is the finest place on earth and I'm truly grateful that I am known as a mountaineer. I'm in a right big hurry now, so I'll see you later.

Eolia News

Our pie supper went off nicely and every one had an enjoyable time. We took in over $30. The revival at the Little Dove Church closed Sunday with the baptism of several new members. Miss Elizabeth Ann Collier of Norton, Va., spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Cora B. Collier of Eolia. Week end visitors of Mr. Edgar Boggs were Oren and Eugene Rice of Berea, Ky. Miss Mildred Thompson spent the week end with Miss Patricia Parsons of Eolia. Eolia is going to miss a good citizen and neighbor since Alvin Parsons has moved to Whitesburg.

We are having many visitors from different parts of the county since the road from Eolia thru to Virginia has been opened.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Huff, leading Cumberland citizens heard the firing of the big guns at Mayking Sunday. Jim Huff is one of the editor's very nearest and dearest old friends. It was his privilege away back to try to teach him how to "shoot" straighter and better.

John: "I just bought a new suit with two pairs of pants." Frank: "Well, how do you like it?" John: "Fine, only it's rather hot wearing two pairs."

Facing The Facts

(J. W. Fairchild)

Everybody can't be pleased at all times. There are occasions when each of us thinks things have gone wrong, and we are sadly disappointed. There has never been an election but some have felt the wrong man got the office, nor a dog fight but what some one wished the other dog had whipped. Always some one is dissatisfied. No doubt some would have preferred the Eagle had fallen into other hands. The truth is I would like to have had it myself.

These things being true, the one important lesson we should learn is to make the best of conditions as they are. The majority of people imagine what they consider an ideal state of affairs, things just as they would have them be, and proceed to fit their lives into this unreal situation. Of course, it won't work, and they fret and worry because it won't. The thing that each of us should learn to do is to adjust ourselves to things as they are—face the facts. If we have bet on the wrong horse, instead of worrying about our loss we should quit betting and make it back by honest business methods. If the wrong person has been elected for President, Judge, Sheriff or Dogpelter, let us accept him as our official, encourage and help him to serve the people well. Let him know that while we were against him before the election, since the people have spoken we bow to their wishes, and are now as strongly for him as we were against him, and if some one has opposed us in our campaign, fought against us, count him not as an enemy for exercising his inalienable right, but love him and try to win him to our cause; that we may have his support should we be fools enough to run again. And these principles apply not only to those in or seeking office, but to men and women in every activity of life.

Keep Letcher County moving onward, upward. Your county newspapers lead the way.

POPEYE CARTOONIST DIES

It may not be of interest to Eagle readers to use this little space in stating that E. C. Segar, the creator of "Popeye, the Sailor and other well-known comics is dead. He was 44 and arose from an humble boy house painter to one of the world's celebrated cartoonists. He left an estate worth a million dollars.

Speaking of the "funnies" its interesting to know the great number of people, old and young, who read and study them. Children are crazy about them even before they can read and we know people old and gray and long since be-spectacled who cry when they fail to get "Bringing Up Father," "Moon Mullins," "The Gumps" or "Popeye." These all go to make up the daily rounds of life.

The pay of 1000 School Teachers Comes from the L & N

THIS MAY seem like a new idea to you, but it is an old story to the railroads. Each year the tax gatherer collects enough money from the L & N Railroad to help materially in maintaining your city, county and state government. Last year in the 13 states served by the road the total amount of property taxes paid was nearly four and a half million dollars. Of this amount about two million dollars went to support public schools.

At an average cost of $50 per pupil it is evident that the entire public cost of educating 40,000 children came from L & N taxes. One item of this cost is the salaries of at least 1000 teachers needed to tutor that many children.

All the railroads together pay taxes of nearly a million dollars a day. The portion of these taxes that go for school purposes is sufficient to pay for the schooling of over a million and a half children each year.

This is one very important reason why you should want to see the railroads prosper under private management. Under Government ownership the railroads would pay no taxes.

Although the railroads are today delivering the finest transportation service in their history, their future is being greatly handicapped by conditions over which they have no control. They need a different national policy. They need the help of a sensible program that will give them greater freedom in pricing and handling the only product they have to sell—transportation—a plan that will enable them to work out their own salvation under reasonable regulation and equal conditions as to competition. The railroads have prepared such a program. You will find this entire program interesting. It gives a concise and clear-cut presentation of the needs of the most essential transportation industry in this country. Send for your copy today.

County Agent's Notes

October 17, 1938

The Livestock Fair at Isom Stockyards was very successful. There was over 1000 people who attended the Fair and enjoyed the Program. Mr. W. C. Montgomery, Vocational Agriculture Teacher at Whitesburg, gave an outline of the work of the F.F.A. in the past and some of the projects the boys were planning for 1939. The County Agent told of the 4-H Club work in the county and presented the 4-H Club County Corn Champion. The champion was Ralph Moretz from the Cumberland Valley 4-H Club and he grew 93 bushels of corn on one acre. He used 6 tons of lime and 15 tons of manure and 250 lbs. of Phosphate on the ground. He was given a pure-bred pig for being the champion.

Mr. F. J. Ison was Chairman of the Program and Mr. Ison made a splendid talk on farming in Letcher County. He made an excellent comparison of the old time method of wearing land out then clearing more and of the more scientific methods of crop rotation, and uses of legumes and grasses to build the soil.

Mr. Boyd E. Wheeler, former County Agent of Letcher County addressed the group on "Better Livestock Through Breeding." He told the people that when he came to Letcher County as Agent there was not a single pure-bred bull in the County. Today there are 24 purebred bulls. The improvement can already be seen in the calves that come to market. By the use of pure-bred sires our Livestock can be very much improved. You are helping your own livestock when you patronize the man with the pure-bred sire.

The Fair was very successful and we hope to have a bigger and better Fair next year.

The prizes were won by the following people: Brood sows: 1st. Van Breeding, 2nd Buster Collins—Boars—1st. Harvey Caudill, 2nd J. Don Collins, 3rd Martin Anderson. Market Hogs—1st. F. J. Ison; Market Lamb—1st. Jess Holbrook; 2nd John H. Holbrook. ewes—1st. Jess Holbrook; 2nd Mayd Ison; 3rd Jonah Caudill. Yearling Calves—1st. Ben Holbrook; 2nd John D. Huff; 3rd F. J. Ison. Heifer—1st. Ben Holbrook; 2nd J. Don Collins; 3rd John D. Huff. Fat Calf—1st. Ben Holbrook; 2nd F. J. Ison; 3rd Kerney Ison. Jersey Ison. Jersey Heifer—1st. John D. Huff Sam Addington. Milking Short-horn Bulls—1st. Gleason Maggard (son of Lawrence Maggard on Sandlick); 2nd Henry Y. Brown (on Smoot Creek); 3rd John M. Folliver on Rockhouse at Democrat. Hereford Bulls—1st. Carl Taylor on Camp Branch; 2nd J. Don Collins on Rockhouse at Colson; 3rd R. B. Wright on Potter's Fork above Haymond.

There are many more pure bred cattle in the county and you make yourself money when you breed to pure-bred animals.

CLAY A. COLSON,
County Agent.

Old Age Assistance

Some days ago 43,128 old age assistance checks, totaling the huge sum of $380,003 were mailed from Frankfort to help along the puny that is usually observed in our older people. The checks averaged around nine dollars each. There are 400 persons in Letcher County who are being helped by the State and Federal Governments. The sums amount to approximately $3,520 per month for the county. A few new names are added constantly each month. Old age assistance by the new Congress which assembles in a few months will, it is said, be strongly stressed and larger allowances made.

THESE BEAT THEIR CASES IN COURT

In Circuit Court late last week the trails of Otis Collins, Lauville Gibson and Ted Niece, three young men, scarcely beyond their teens were put on trial charged with the shooting and killing of Sylvan Taylor, another young man. The trial lasted about a day resulting finally in the jury returning a verdict of not guilty.

The killing took place last July 15th, at Colson where a local show was being held. The trouble arose without very much apparent excuse. Half dozen or more shots were promiscuously fired, one of which struck young Taylor in the back from which he died in a few days in the hospital at Seco. The jury from the evidence was evidently unable to determine just who fired the fatal shot. All the folk concerned in the affair are the sons of leading Letcher county families.

highly appreciative address that was enjoyed attentively.

Following the address of Mr. Stewart, Dr. O. W. Thompson of Pikeville, the man who put Eastern Kentucky on the Conservation and wild life map was called. Mr. Thompson too delivered a fine address, one that would have been highly creditable in any audience in the nation. The great wild life and fishing opportunities now so often enjoyed by people all over the mountains are pre-eminently due to a great extent to the untiring activities of Dr. Thompson.

A few other fill-in-speakers were called after which the outside speakers of the day, Senator Albin W. Barkley, Congressman Andrew J. May and John M. Robison and would be congressman, Hon. Hillard H. Smith, of Hindman were observed marching up toward the veranda of the Club House.

Then the toastmaster called a halt in the proceedings and for an hour everybody shook hands talked, laughed, greeted and ate ham sandwiches and drank cold drinks, looking forward to the firing of of bigger guns after the recreation was over.

At one o'clock when everybody was satisfied and the crowd augmented by the arrival of hundreds of others, the toastmaster called the order and again the speaking began. Many of the prominent whose names were on the program failed to answer and this alone kept the exercises from lasting until the shades of evening came over.

At one o'clock the crowd settled and soon Hon. Hillard H. Smith's familiar tones were echoing over the loud speaker and everybody listened attentively to his plea for a greater and higher development of our mountain people. Mr. Smith dwelt at length on the fact that by blood, kith and ken he was on the grounds of his fathers and that he in thought and actions had only the highest ambition to see this land realize the highest ideals. "If elected to Congress," said he, "I will do all in my power to bring development to my native hills."

The next speaker was our almost every day citizen and present Congressman, the Hon. Jack May of Prestonsburg. Mr. May almost daily with the Fish and Game Club was the first man to place Cumberland Dam into the archives of the nation by having the War Department engineers to come into the region and locate the site. He carefully explained in detail the possibly rough sailing the project would have to do before actually becoming a reality. That he will do what is possible to be done, and he is a power from which action must come, there is no question.

The great Kentuckian, first and next almost the biggest man in the nation, the Honorable Albin W. Barkley was then introduced by our own Astor Hogg of Washington. Purposely Mr. Hogg had only a few words to say for everybody wanted to hear the greatest leader in the greatest body of law-makers in the Nation. As Mr. Barkley approached the speaker's stand there was a burst of applause, but soon the voice that had stilled two national conventions and resounded into every other civilized land, soon brought rapt attention. Mr. Barkley dwelt lengthily upon the vitally important question of Conservation, Restoration and Preservation of our natural resources. "I have traveled a little lately and have observed how conservation and restoration is carried on in the old nations across the seas," said the speaker, "and how the people over there conserve must be the theme of action in our own land". In his demonstrations he took great pains to bring to his audience the simple home-ways of doing these things and the importance of our Government leading to them. He too vowed that he would stand ever ready to do his part in promoting the building of the dam. His speech and his strong emphasis of its importance brought great encouragement to the local promoters of the scheme.

Following Mr. Barkley Congressman John M. Robison of the 9th Congressional district was introduced and he too, placed himself as an ardent promoter of the Conservation movement and for everything that would promote our mountain country. Mr. Robison is a strong man in action.

With all the powers as above mentioned and the universal approbation of a vast clientele behind it the dam realization certainly appears very promising at this time.

Take The Cruelty Out Of Trapping

Owing to the strong tide of public sentiment against rural trapping, and the refusal of thinking men of many organizations to buy furs cruelly taken, inventors have been busy with devices which should remove the cruelty, and supersede what Irvin Cobb well calls "the slow degrees of infinite torture of the steel trap."

Of the several kinds of these now to be had, the chain-loop leg-hold invented by Dr. Vernon Bailey, Retired Chief Naturalist of the U. S. Biological Survey, seems simplest and most practical. A flexible chain-loop is thrown up about the leg, and held there by an ingenious spring, which tightens the loop with pulling, and yet does not injure.

Animals caught in the steel trap are maimed and ruined for life. From the chain-loop, unwanted animals, too young furbearers, etc., can be liberated unhurt, thus greatly conserving the fur supply. With the wild life of America nearing extinction, discrimination in trapping becomes imperative.

When the Kentucky Anti-Steel Trap Law becomes effective Jan. 1st, 1940, the chain-loop will be appreciated, and should be before then. Though patience is needed to learn how to set and use it, this pays in the end. It is put out now by one of the principal steel-trap firms of the country, and can be gotten in needed sizes through dealers from the larger wholesale hardware companies of the state.
